Introduction

Any claim or incident that challenges the professional integrity of BIOS Members creates stress and anxiety for the Member concerned. Following these simple guidelines will ensure that expert help is engaged at an early stage of the proceedings.

This is a guide to the procedures for claim notifications only. It is not intended to be exhaustive and does not in any way alter the Terms and Conditions of the Medical Professional Liability Policy or the Public Liability Policy. In the event of any conflict, the Terms and Conditions of BIOS's Medical Professional Liability Policy and/or the Public Liability Policy will take precedence over this guide to the procedures for claims notification.

Triggers for Claim Notification

It is a requirement of the policy that you notify Insurers as soon as possible of any actual or potential claim, circumstance or incident that may reasonably be expected to give rise to a claim. You should seek the advice of the BIOS brokers if you are unsure whether to report an incident or not.

If a Member is unsure whether an incident or circumstance should be reported, please contact BIOS's insurance brokers with as much information as possible.

Employed members must refer any potential claim to their employer for processing.

Scope of Practice

If you are unsure whether an activity or modality is within the overall scope of the profession, please contact BIOS for clarification. The BIOS insurance scheme does not cover activities considered to be outside the scope of Orthoptic Practice.

Members' Obligations

There is a requirement under the insurance scheme for Members to act quickly and notify insurers via BIOS, immediately they become aware of a claim or of an adverse incident which may give rise to a claim. Failure to do so may prejudice Members' Rights under the policies.

Important Note

It is not possible to register potential claims with insurers unless the claims process on the following pages are followed. Failure to register circumstances which might lead to potential claims, or the reporting of actual claims as soon as practicably possible may prejudice members rights to indemnity under the PLI policy.

Employed members will benefit from the indemnity provided by their employer, who will have responsibility in the conduct of any claim arising from the alleged negligence of any employee.

Claims Process

Members should contact BIOS's Insurance Brokers preferably by email on promedschemes@jameshallam.co.uk or by post to

 - Copies of all correspondence including emails
 - Evidence of Employment/Terms of Engagement where requested
 - Notes of any telephone conversations, text messages etc.NB DO NOT SEND PATIENT RECORDS UNLESS REQUESTED
- The brokers will request BIOS for verification of Membership and Scope of Practice to confirm the member's entitlement to indemnity under the policy.
- The brokers will confirm HCPC Registration (and any other regulatory obligations where Treatments were undertaken outside of the United Kingdom)
- Subject to satisfactory replies, all documents will be submitted to the relevant insurer for confirmation of indemnity entitlement under the PLI scheme and registering as a potential claim under the MPLC Medical Malpractice policy or Travelers Insurance Co. Public Liability policy
- The insurer's own Medico Legal Team or Kennedys Solicitors on behalf of the MPLC will then be engaged to manage any claim direct with the Member until finalised or closed.

It should be noted that BIOS are not involved in the management of the claims process other than initial verification of Membership and Scope of Practice.

The majority of allegations received by Members are unfounded, but the process of resolving the various issues and establishing whether or not negligence has taken place, can be a long and slow process.

Members should note that no cover is provided under this policy for Corporate Entities formed by them or for claims brought against their employer.

Responding to Claimants

Once members have received notification from the patient or their Solicitor that proceedings have started, members must act within defined time frames. BIOS's insurance brokers and/or the underwriters or solicitors acting on their behalf, will advise members what to do.

Members should not enter into correspondence with the claimant or their solicitors once insurers have been notified apart from:-

- Acknowledging receipt of any correspondence received
- Informing the claimant or their legal representatives that insurers have been notified of the matter
- Providing the contact details of insurers or BIOS's insurance brokers so that all future correspondence can be directed to them and not to the member

The Member should not at this stage discuss with any party (other than the claims team) the treatment or advice given, nor on any allegations made, or provide any offer of compensation, refund of fees, or make any admission of liability without the insurers consent.
